THE SENIOR CLASS
of The
MARY POTTER ACADEMY
Oxford, North Carolina
Presents
THE RAM
Volume VII
1953

Dedication

In appreciation of the faithful endeavor of our mothers and fathers to secure an excellent high school education for their children, the Senior Class has dedicated its 1953 annual to the parents of Mary Potter High School students. We hope that in looking over this year book, they will perhaps recapture some of the glamour of their own school days. For this reason and because we know that our family life and our school life are closely linked, we affectionately dedicate our 1953 annual to our parents.

Our Principal

“Principal’s Message to Graduating Class and Alumni Association”

We congratulate the class of 1953 and the Sponsors for this splendid edition of the Annual. The photographs included indicate to some extent the extra-curricular activities which engage the minds and bodies of our students. These activities are carefully guided and we believe add greatly to the personalities of our students and adequately prepare them for post-graduate wholesome experiences.

TO THE GRADUATES

We are deeply gratified that you have completed the requirements for graduation. We trust your graduation will not quench your thirst for knowledge, but will become a greater incentive for the acquisition of truths, skills and knowledges that will enable you to live acceptably and productively in your chosen community. The staff will follow you with the keenest interest. Your successes will be our successes.

FROM PRIVATE TO PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Earlier this year announcements were made by the local Board and the Board of National Missions that the properties that for sixty-four years have belonged to the Board of National Missions would be bought by the County Commissioners of Granville County. This will change the status from a private to a public school.

We believe it is highly possible to continue the great traditions of the school in developing students of character, industry, and scholarship. In these areas we believe the school has excelled to a large extent.

APPEAL TO ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Through the many years of the history of the school we have had a loyal and cooperative Alumni Association. The achievements of the school and the services it has been able to render, have been through the deep seated loyalty and inspiration of the Alumni Association. Their awards for scholarship have enabled our students to look beyond high school days to fruitful vocations and professional study and to active, sustained and purposeful relationships to their several communities.

In the days that lie immediately ahead in this period of transition we shall rely on the wisdom and loyalty of the Alumni Association. We want to make those adjustments in our plans and curricula that will adequately meet the needs of growing children, as well as the needs of adult life by way of an expanded program in this area.

Class Song

Tune of "Red Sails in The Sunset"

Good-bye Alma Mater
Now we're leaving you
But we carry with us
A love that is true
The days in the Class-room
We'll never forget
By what you have taught us
Our standards we've set

Good were our teams
And ensembles too
There never came
A time that we were blue

And so in our parting
Dear school now we raise
Our voices in singing
To you words of praise.

Class Poem

Mary Potter, we leave you, but we depart in sorrow
To go into the world of sweet tomorrow.
Life was grand in this dear school
Because we obeyed the "golden rule."
But the time has come and we must go
Into another world which we do not know.

Our pencils and books we shall put away
Until we need them another day.
No more studying for us here and
No more seeing our teachers dear:
But as we go onward toward our goal
We'll remember the good that they tried to unfold.

Kind teachers, you were grand. Parents, so were you.
Without your help what could we do?
We love you and we regret to leave
But our diplomas we shall soon receive.
So, loved ones dear, we shall soon depart
We will miss you greatly within our hearts.

We have come to the end of this long trail
Over which we struggled four years to prevail.
We leave our thoughts so you can tell
We love you dear school oh! so well!
So, good-bye dear friends, and teachers too.
All that we are, we owe to you.

The Gazette has served as a link between the school and the Public. It has strengthened the relationship between the school and community by carrying to the citizens the activities of the school and publishing local articles that are in some way connected with the school.

The paper has a large circulation extending to many towns and states, thus making it possible for those who cannot see us at work to share in our experiences by reading our articles. We are continually attempting to improve our paper in order that we may satisfy our reading public.

The purpose of the Library Club is to make its members familiar with the Library and its materials, so that they will be able to encourage and stimulate others of the importance and information obtained through the School Library. The club serves as a connecting link between the teachers and student body in revealing information and giving related services when necessary. The club strives to present its materials and services that will be Informational, Inspirational and Recreational to the members as well as to the entire student body.

A Retrospect of The Commercial Co-ed Club

It was seven years ago when an ambitious young teacher, fresh out of North Carolina College with a B. S. Degree in Commercial Education came to Mary Potter to organize a Commercial Department.

This teacher, Miss Margie C. Morris, full of new ideas and motives to portray an added atmosphere of cultural refinement and to give a practicable use for the classroom instructions, established a club, and it was given the befitting name of "The Commercial Co-ed Club."

The charter members of the Club established its activities by publishing two issues of "The Black and White Dispatch." The ambitions of the members were not satisfied until they sponsored a "Manless Wedding" and a play entitled "A Day In An Office," written by members of the Club. Toward the close of that school year, the members realized that some recognition should be given to the most industrious and ambitious student in the organization. After determining specific qualities, the member was selected to become recipient of their scholastic award. That year also marked the beginning of the traditional Spring hike at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth R. Chavis, proclaimed the Mother of the Club.

The ensuing year was more or less a repetition of the first. That year, the "Manless Wedding" was supplanted by a "Womanless Wedding."

Very few of us were here when the C. C. C's. presented to the faculty and student body an original play entitled "A Night In The Dormitory," typifying scenes of boarding school life. In checking our treasured memoirs, we find that this event dates back to the senior class of 1948-49, which is—this year—the class graduating from college. That class was quite talented in originality for it was they who demonstrated, in eight scenes, "The Incorrect and Correct Thing To Do," in the theater, church, dining hall, and school.

Many thought that some one was due to have some praise, and since Miss Morris was continually being patted on the back because of the increasing successful endeavors of the club, it was unanimously decided to thank our mothers with a "Mother's Day Program." During that year, there was quite a debate in the minds and hearts of many as to which program was taken more serenely, the Mother's Day or the Thanksgiving. The first related gratitude and praise to cherished mothers, and the latter reviewed the origin of the occasion. Both served the momentous times flawlessly. It was also during that year that personalized Christmas greeting cards were introduced within our folds.

Just as mortgages are burned in thankfulness when the final debts on real property are paid, so did the Club celebrate their thankfulness when they buried the devil during a colorful ceremony referred to as "The Devil's Funeral." Unlike anything ever presented here, The Devil's Funeral was quite an attraction for the adults as well as the students. We all rejoiced in knowing that Old Satan or better known as "Lucifer Redhorn Devil" could no longer torment those with good intentions of walking the straight but narrow path. The close of that eventful year was met in the form of a "School Closing Program." We will always associate the graduates in the class of 1950-51 with these two particular activities.

Very few students of Mary Potter—and the C. C. C's. included—knew anything about St. Patrick and March 17 which is proclaimed his day. That we might not continue to live in ignorance of the miraculous performances of this great Saint, the Commercial Co-ed Club joined hands with the Irish throughout the world in observing St. Patrick's Day. Emerald green being the color of the day, all members were attired in green with the shamrocks decorating the lectern and stage. A chronological account of St. Patrick's life was reviewed in this program. To date, the tradition of presenting at Commencement a scholastic award to the notorious senior of the Club has not been broken.

The organization was characterized with the publication of a "Black and White Dispatch," with designs in the enclosure that added to the expositories. The members of the 1951-52 term wanted to appear different without dwindling away from the traditions set by their predecessors. That meant that they would have to add features rather than extract them. With that, the idea of presenting our material in columns and having a variety of colors in our Easter Edition was inaugurated. However, this was not done at the sacrifice of our traditional Mother's Day issue. The paper that year honored all mothers in general and Mother Chavis in particular. The assembly program presented on the Wednesday morning leading up to Mother's Day was so conducted with sincerity and reverence that tears were seen on the cheeks of many. It is nothing unusual for a program of this nature to bring tears to the eyes of the adults and guests, but it also touched the hearts of many students that their eyes too, glittered with tears. Mother Chavis will remember this particular class by the Lily White Bible with the gold inscription "Mother Elizabeth R. Chavis" on the front cover and the orchid which we presented her after she delivered that challenging message to the parents of the next generation entitled "Tribute to Mothers of Today." Again that year we were the guests of Mother Chavis when we had our Spring outing at her home. So, the curtains fell on what we considered a very fruitful and happy year in the C. C. C.

In the absence of our advisor, Miss Margie C. Morris, the Commercial Co-eds were somewhat bewildered when school reopened. The task of maintaining the Club and the spirit until she returned was left in the hands of a few capable and willing members. Nevertheless, with the strong determination that the Commercial Co-ed Club should not die while under our heads, we struggled for three months without her to keep it alive. The major activity during this time was a float in the annual Homecoming parade. Upon her return, we published as usual, the Christmas issue of our paper. Endeavoring earnestly to present varied programs that are both informative and entertaining, we reviewed the History of Mary Potter School in observance of National Negro History Week in February. Again, we commemorated St. Patrick's Day with an informal observance among the Club members. This year, we were again the guests of Mother Chavis when we had our annual Spring outing at her home which climaxed the activities for the year. Notwithstanding our back sets caused by illness of our vivacious advisor, we feel sure that our activities counter-balanced our dormancy.

The Vocational Agriculture Department has an enrollment of seventy students this year. The students of Agriculture are taught how to appreciate the farm and the many advantages and opportunities that come to a boy or girl who is exposed to farm living and training. All students enrolled in Agriculture are encouraged to carry out a supervised farm practice program. This program consists of livestock, crops and home beautification under livestock, such projects as raising chickens for fryers or layers, and swine project-producing pigs for breeding and marketing purposes.

Emphasis is placed on vegetable growing and conservation of vegetables to show their importance, as a means of producing ample food supplies for the home during the year.

The New Farmers of America is an organization composed of Agriculture students. This organization teaches the correct procedure in conducting and carrying out meetings. It also sponsors contests on local, districts and state levels. There are contests of public talent, officers ability, quartet singing, and quizzing.

Annual banquets are held each year as a means of social activity. Also, these banquets give an opportunity for the parents to hear some of the accomplishments of the Agriculture Department.

PURPOSES OF THE NEW FARMERS OF AMERICA

1. To develop competent, aggressive, agricultural and rural leadership.
2. To encourage intelligent choice of farming occupations.
3. To encourage members in the development of individual farming programs.
